

Aruba's Muscle Car Club hits the road for Queen's Birthday

April 30 was a good day for showing off one's dream car, as many felt about the motorcade that wended their way from the Certified Megamall parking lot through the streets of Aruba to celebrate the national holiday for Reina Beatrix.

Some love their so much; they even got married in them. Nita and Joop van Herwijnen, newlyweds of only one week, showed off their metal flake Renegade with custom airbrush art during the parade.

The route took the members of the Aruba Muscle Car Club from Oranjestad to Malmok and then through Santa Cruz to San Nicolas, so all could admire the cavalcade of beautifully maintained classic Corvettes, Cameros, Cadillacs and other custom cars. Long before they would arrive on the scene, they could be heard coming through various sets of chrome dual manifold exhaust pipes leading from their big engines. Organizer Adolpho Maduro revealed that the parade of this past weekend did not even include all 150 members of the Aruba Muscle Car Club, as that would be too much for Aruba's roads, and tie up traffic for hours!
